

Extreme Sponsor: The Kreole Kid

October 26th, 2009 Rhett Umphress Leave a comment Go to comments

By Tiffany Holbert

Anyone that has been at the build site this week during lunch or dinnertime knows where the Kreole Kid trailer is. Randy Fletcher, owner of the Kreole Kid LLC, has donated more than 1,200 meals to volunteers, workers and spectators this week.

“Everybody’s said it’s the best food out here,” Fletcher said.

The Kreole Kid is an onsite catering business specializing in southern style barbecue and Cajun cuisine.

Fletcher learned of the opportunity to cater the build through Rachel Daly of the Economic Development authority of Miami County.

“She asked me would I be willing and I jumped all over it,” Fletcher said.

Fletcher has had 20 volunteers working with him this week and has had support from others businesses in the community. Vin-Lee-Ron, a wholesaler from Argos, Ind., donated 200 pounds of pork loins and Bill’s Meat Market of Peru cut and tenderized all 200 pounds.